

eMedi8 through its Technology Consulting services, focuses on advising businesses on how to efficiently use information technology concepts and practises to meet their business objectives.

In addition to providing professional advice, eMedi8 can design, develop, implement, deploy, and administer IT systems on behalf of clients.

eMedi8's Technology Consulting is a value-based consulting service focused on high end information technology and open solutions. We support our customers with up-to-date tools and innovative ideas. Our mission is to analyze and solve the strategic or routine IT problems our customers have. By relying on teamwork and fast communications, our customers can access the expertise pool of our professional resources.

We believe in our people. We also believe that our people need to have the freedom to grow and the responsibility to do so. We believe that a rational cooperation between our people and our customers is both achievable and mutually beneficial.
