

eMedi8 is a custom and open software development firm with branches in Europe (Cyprus) and the US.

We offer full cycle custom software programming services, from product idea, software development to outsourcing support and enhancement. eMedi8 employs a large pool of software engineers coming from different backgrounds, while being able to balance product development efforts and project duration to your business needs.

eMedi8 provides professional-level Software Development services and activities that include research, new development, modification, reuse, re-engineering, maintenance, or any other activities that may be required in a total software system solutions.

Our services include:

- Custom Software Development based on C++, Java, C# and .NET Programming; Embedded software development; Application re-engineering, re-factoring and enhancement.
- Internet/Intranet Software Development based on Client/Server and Distributed application development; CRM; Corporate document and knowledge management systems; Web systems and CMS Development.
- Dedicated Development Center with reserved personnel and equipment for an offshore project according to customer's business goals.

With eMedi8's software development services, you can reduce software development costs and enhance revenue growth due to our:

- High responsiveness
- Skilled and organized personnel
- Solid experience in projects of different complexity and scope
- Mature software development process
- On-time and within budget delivery
- Cost-competitive custom software programming services